Ford-Reagan Fight Primary Filings Made Slated In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford has been conceded at least 15 Republican National Convention delegates from Ohio, but faces what promises to be a major fight with Ronald Reagan for the other 82.

Meanwhile, seven Democratic candidates and a host of favorite sons plan to slug it out in the June 8 primary election for Ohio's 152 Democratic convention delegates.

The candidates filed statewide slates for Ohio's primary election with the secretary of state's office here Thursday. Other delegate slates were filed in congressional districts around the state.

The surprise came from Reagan's campaign, which began its Ohio effort early this week. Reagan supporters filed a full slate of 28 delegates for at-large seats, plus district slates in 18 of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected on the statewide ballot, with the remaining three-fourths elected from the district slates.

A week ago, Reagan reportedly had written off Ohio's primary and conceded its 97 convention delegates to Ford. Thursday's filings were the result of a statewide effort launched Monday night.

The five districts where Reagan did not file cost him three delegates each. Reagan may lose more delegates to Ford before the election as signatures on his petitions, supposedly registered Republicans, are subject to official scrutiny.

Reagan supporters conceded they were less careful than usual in gathering signatures because of the speed required.

Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris, a Democratic presidential hopeful, loomed as the big loser in the Ohio filings.

Gloomy Harris supporters told Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that consent forms signed by Harris and required for the filing were lost by the airline carrying them to Ohio.

Brown accepted the petitions and a promise that the consent forms would follow shortly. But he warned that Harris' slate could be challenged for improper filing.

Harris filed in only eight districts and statewide, seeking a total of 77 delegates. If his statewide slate is disqualified, he would have a shot at only 39 delegates.

Statewide Democratic candidates in Ohio are former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter; Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace; Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.; Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho; state Treasurer Gertrude Donahay, and Harris.

The Donahay slate is a favorite daughter slate which party leaders hope will take them to the convention uncommitted.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Candidates for office from president to state representative have declared their intentions, formally beginning the frantic race toward November.

Ohio had two Republican, seven Democratic and five independent candidates for president by the end of filing Thursday afternoon.

But candidates also filed for Supreme Court, U.S. Senate, Congress and the state legislature, marking the official start of election year 1976 in Ohio.

At the presidential level, President Ford gained a last minute primary challenge from former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who decided only this week to begin the battle.

Reagan filed as a candidate for the 28 at-large convention delegates and in 18 of the state's 23 congressional districts. Each district elects three delegates.

Reagan's final status will not be known until signatures are validated on petitions supporting the delegate slates. Peter Voss of Canton, Reagan's Ohio campaign director, conceded that some slates are shaky because of the speed with which the signatures were gathered.

The seven Democratic candidates who filed for positions on Ohio's statewide ballot are state Treasurer Gertrude Donahay; Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace; Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.; former Georgia Gov.

Jimmy Carter; Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris.

Most of those also filed slates in some or all of the congressional districts. In both parties, one-fourth of the convention delegates are elected statewide, with the remaining three-fourths elected within the districts.

Mrs. Donahay heads a favorite daughter slate of state party leaders who hope to go to the convention uncommitted to any of the established candidates.

In the U.S. Senate race, incumbent Robert Taft Jr. is unopposed for the Republican nomination, but four Democrats plan to fight for the right to oppose him.

They are former U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum; U.S. Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio; Cleveland attorney Richard B. Kay, and Cleveland businessman James D. Nolan.

Kay's status on the ballot is precarious. He is fighting a ruling by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that he does not qualify as a Democratic candidate because of his 1970 candidacy in the American Independent Party. A federal judge has ordered him on the ballot until the matter is resolved.

Three independents also filed petitions. They will be on the November general election ballot.

On the statewide ballot, 12 candidates filed for two openings on the Ohio Supreme Court. The seats are opening because of the retirement of Justices Leonard J. Stern and J.J.P. Corrigan.

Congressional candidates filed in each of Ohio's 23 districts. Ohio voters also will select 16 state senators and 99 state representatives.

Primary Races Set In County

There will be primary races on June 8 for the Democratic candidate for commissioner for the term beginning Jan. 3, 1977, and for the office of prosecuting attorney.

All other county offices are uncontested in the primary this year.

For the Democratic commissioner candidacy, those filing nomination petitions are: Hewitt Cromley, 15304 Cromley Road, Ashville; Dorwin E. Hay, Route 2, Ashville; Robert W. Hoover, 408 E. Franklin St.; Carl C. Schein, Route 2; Waldo J. Swoyer, 9716 Marcy Road, Ashville.

L. Robert Liston Jr., Route 3, the incumbent for the term beginning Jan. 2, 1977, was unopposed in the Republican primary and will face no opposition in the general election in November.

Roger W. Koch, 111 Reber Ave., is unopposed in the Republican primary for the term beginning Jan. 3.

Republican William Ammer, 141 Pleasant St., judge of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, is unopposed for that office.

Other Republican incumbents who will not face opposition in the primary or the general election are Sara M. Dresbach, 160 McCrea Ave., clerk of courts; Robert W. Wood, 603 Guilford Road, treasurer; Ray Carroll, 939 Circle Drive, coroner.

Democrat incumbents who will not have opposition are Hazel M. Yeatts, 507 N. Pickaway St., recorder; Henry T. McCrady, 328 E. Mill St., county engineer.

License Tags Identical

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 300,000 pairs of farm trucks and passenger cars are registered with identical license plate numbers, an official of the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles said Thursday.

However, the plates are respectively marked either "Farm Truck" or "Seat Belts Fastened?" and they should not be confusing for purposes of law enforcement, said William Kaumeyer, deputy registrar.

"There has been no discussion of any confusion with the plates," Kaumeyer said. "If there has been any problem, it's never been brought to my attention."

Kaumeyer said that a police officer probably would not mistake a farm plate for a passenger plate. He said the description of the vehicle would make it obvious whether he was searching for a truck or car.

He said that the duplicate numbers began occurring late last year, when a large number of passenger registrations forced the bureau to overlap some numbers.

If there is any confusion, Kaumeyer said it will be eliminated with the issuance of new plates this year. All passenger plates will have five digits, he said, while farm plates will continue to have six digits.

Dwight Radcliff, the incumbent sheriff, will not face opposition in the June Primary. However, John D. Bost, 352 E. Franklin St., has filed nominating petitions as an independent candidate and will oppose Radcliff in the general election.

P. Eugene Long II, 303 S. Scioto St., has filed petitions for the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney. He is unopposed in the primary.

Democrats filing petitions for the office are Richard L. Gerhardt, 572 Willow Lane, the incumbent, and James R. Kingsley 623 Beverly Road, a former assistant prosecutor.

In addition to the county elective offices, the following persons have filed petitions for committeeman.

Ohio Crime Data Picture Mixed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The number of murders and non-negligent manslaughters in Ohio dropped by almost one-third in 1975 as compared to the previous year while serious crime overall rose 12 per cent in the state.

In Parma, there were no murders this past year; Canton experienced a 55 per cent decrease, and Akron and Dayton lowered its rate by 29 per cent.

Also, Canton was the only community of over 100,000 population in Ohio to experience a decrease in the number of serious crimes in 1975 compared to the previous year. The drop was by .8 per cent.

Seven other Ohio cities showed increases, ranging from 8.1 per cent in Youngstown to 28.1 per cent in Columbus.

Other cities surveyed in Ohio and their increases in 1975 over 1974 were: Akron, 9.6 per cent; Cincinnati, 9.2; Cleveland, 11.1; Dayton, 17.3, and Parma, 13.2.

The figures were released Thursday by the U.S. Justice Department and were based on the crime index, composed of offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft as reported by city, county and state law enforcement agencies.

Across the nation, serious crime rose nine per cent compared to 18 per cent in 1974 over 1973.

In Canton, the total crime index dropped from 6,532 to 6,480.

Congress Eyes Plane Sale To Egyptians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is studying a formal State Department proposal to sell six C130 cargo planes to Egypt in what would be the first U.S.-Egyptian arms deal in about 20 years.

The proposed sale, which has drawn opposition from supporters of Israel and from the Israeli government, was announced Thursday by the Pentagon and State Department.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is expected to be questioned on the proposal today when he appears before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Three committee members, Sens. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Clifford Case, R-N.J., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., had previously sought Kissinger's assurance that if the $65-million sale goes through it will be the last of its kind this year.

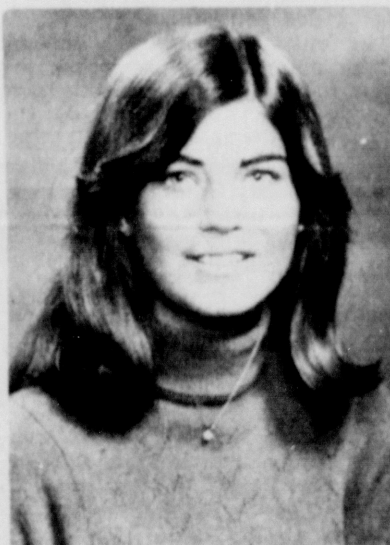

Javits said Thursday the panel planned to give the sales proposal "very careful attention," although he said the struggle in the Middle East "in my judgment is not going to be helped toward peace by accelerating the arms race there."

The C130 sale is seen by many supporters of Israel as an opening wedge that could lead to a vastly expanded sales program to rebuild the Egyptian armed forces.

Previously, the State Department had indicated the sale of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. transport planes would cost only $39 million.

In its letter to Congress announcing its intent to go ahead with the sale, the department said that the increase is due to the addition of a one-year supply of replacement parts for the six planes.

Under the measure by Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, they would be immune from such countersuits unless a determination were made that they had acted "with malice or in bad faith," Butts told the Senate.

BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM — 145 third and fourth grade students at the Ashville Elementary School participated in a bicentennial salute to our flag — "Long May It Wave Proudly and Correctly" — Thursday morning in which they presented a history of the flags of the United States and showed the proper ways to display the flag. Highlight of the show was the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" accompanied by the raising of a paper chain flag. Flags used during the program were donated by the First and Third National Banks of Circleville. Musical director was Mrs. Marylou Partee. Teachers involved in the program were Mrs. Carolyn Sheets, Miss Debra Snell, Mrs. Brenda Garrett, Mrs. Janet Barnes, Mrs. Charlotte Rife, Mrs. Julie Helsner, and Ms. Pat King.

In other action, the House approved 88-0 a measure that calls for up to 30 days in jail and a $250 fine for impersonating a police officer. The penalty would jump to 15 years in jail and a $7,500 fine if a felony were committed during the impersonation.

By a vote of 89-0, the House forwarded to the Senate an emergency bill that permits the state to insure its own motor vehicles. It was introduced after a contract with a private insurance company was not renewed because of a massive rate increase.

Winning Ohio Lottery Numbers

In the Buckeye 1,000, the winning six-digit number was 595417; the five-digit number was 95904; the four-digit number was 0019 and the three-digit number was 894. In the Spirit of '76 game, the six-digit number was 664413; the five-digit number was 23640 and the four-digit number was 7657. The liberty bell numbers were 62, 31, 37 and 65.

Anticrime Bills Progress In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State lawmakers advanced bills aimed at arsonists and other criminals before adjourning Thursday until early next week.

They left in doubt, however, the fate of another measure designed to eliminate Ohio's bed sheet primary ballots. The House refused to concur in Senate amendments, leaving unanswered a question of whether voters will have to mark cumbersome paper ballots in the June 8 primary instead of being able to use machines.

House sponsors said they will move to have the elections bill reconsidered next Tuesday. It must be enacted by April 9 in order for the secretary of state to prescribe the form of ballots for the upcoming presidential primary.

The Senate voted without dissent to extend immunity from lawsuits to insurance companies which cooperate with public officials on arson investigations.

Sponsors of the enabling bill, which chiefs in most of Ohio's big cities, including Cincinnati where damages from incendiary type fires shot up to $2.6 million last year, compared with only $600,000 the year before. Butts said more than half (56.4 per cent) of the fires last year in Toledo were attributed to arson or incendiary causes.

The House, meanwhile, resurrected and approved a previously sidetracked bill that sets six months imprisonment and a $7,500 fine for throwing a hard object or firing a gun at a motor vehicle, boat, plane, train, or other vehicle.

The bill resulted from the death of a Bucyrus girl 15 months ago. She was fatally injured when a 20-pound chunk of asphalt was thrown from an overpass on the Ohio Turnpike and hit her car.

The House approved the bill in early January, but called it back for reconsideration to correct technical difficulties. The measure by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, now goes to the Senate.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned up today after its slide in profit-taking Thursday.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stock prices was ahead more than a point and New York Stock Exchange issues advancing in price held a slight lead on those declining.

Brokers had attributed Thursday's decline to investors cashing in on profits they accumulated in the first three days of the week, when the Dow jumped nearly 30 points.

The underlying mood, however, was still bullish, they said, because of continue reports that the economic recovery was showing more strength than expected.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the nation's money supply had dropped in the latest reporting week, a development that could relieve some investor worries concern over interest rates.

Early prices today included Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 to 43; General Motors, up 1/4 at 68 1/2; and American Telephone & Telegraph, off 1/4 at 56 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average declined 7.08 to 1,002.13.

Girl Scouts Make Easter Seal Posters

Girl Scout Troop 931 and students from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Washington Township School created the Easter Seal posters being displayed in various local business establishments.

"Faith, Hope and Therapy" the 1976 Easter Seal campaign slogan is depicted on the posters . . . but the title is the student's own idea; one which typified the kind of imagination used by the students was, "Flowers Bloom In Different Ways", representing the many areas in which help is given the handicapped through Easter Seals.

The Pickaway County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults is grateful to these students for their contribution, and to all the young people in the community who are helping the society toward meeting the 1976 campaign goal.

He was later employed by Kane Brick and Tile Company and then by Hanley Brick Company, Bradford, Pa. where he remained until his retirement. Following his retirement in 1965, he moved to Ridgway. Police, Fire Departments To Study Budget Circleville policemen and firemen plan to employ a certified public accountant to check city financial records to determine if there is money available to grant a raise and fringe benefits to them.

The police and firemen have expressed dissatisfaction with the salary increase they were given by city council this year.

In a meeting with council held last Monday, the members of the city's legislative body said there are no funds available for raises. Council also stated that if pay increases were granted to members of the safety forces, then all other city departments would be asking for similar wage and fringe benefit packages.

A spokesman for fire and police employees stated the nature of their jobs requires specialized training. The spokesman noted that in the past few years council gave some employees large raises but at that time no consideration was given to the members of the safety forces.

According to the spokesman, if the CPA they employ reports there are no funds available for pay increases, the members of the two departments will take further action.

He indicated this action may be asking council to increase the city income tax or to place an operating levy on the ballot with the funds specifically earmarked for salaries in the safety department.

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer at 219 South Court Street. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact this office.

(Q.) I am a Korean Conflict Veteran who recently quit his job in order to go back to school full time. Can I still claim education benefits under the GI Bill?

(A.) No. All GI Bill Education Benefits for Korean Conflict Veterans were terminated January 31, 1965.

(Q.) Could my World War II Service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps give me eligibility for a GI Bill loan at this late date?

(A.) Unused, expired GI loan entitlement was restored to World War II and Korea veterans in 1970. WAAC veterans who served at least 90 days, but who were discharged before October 1, 1943, for disability which precluded further service in the WAAC or its successor organization, the Women's Army Corps, are eligible for GI loans on the same basis as other eligible veterans.

(Q.) If a 22 year old veteran applies for VGLI, can he renew it for a second five-year term if he still is not financially able to afford commercial insurance?

(A.) VGLI is non-renewable after the five-year term expires.

(Q.) Since VA is authorized to pay a $150 plot allowance in private cemeteries, is this payable when one purchases the plot, or following the veteran's death? Both my husband and I are World War II veterans and elect burial in a private cemetery.

(A.) Payment of the VA plot allowance is made after the veteran dies, not before death upon purchase of a burial plot.

The total amount paid to the State Teachers Retirement System from Pickaway County totaled $59,413.43. The School Employees Retirement System received $11,872 from Pickaway County.

Honor Roll Names Omitted

The Logan Elm High School authorities have found five more students who made honor roll grades for the fourth six weeks grading period.

Juniors Tonia Rutter, Pam Tatman, Carol Strome and Cindy Wharton and freshman Trenny Wharton were also supposed to be listed on the honor roll.

Coffee Reprieve

Coffee drinkers who have been having heartburn over conflicting medical opinions on use of the stimulating beverage, can smile a little brighter again. The latest study, published in the New England Journal of Medicine, reports little correlation between drinking coffee and heart disease in men.

Directed by Dr. Charles H. Hennekens of Boston City College, the study attempted to trace common traits of 649 men who died of heart disease between the ages of 30 and 70.

Today is Trooper's birthday. If he were still alive, I would send him a card: Drop Dead. Trooper was my horse when we were both in the field artillery. He was so mean that I was surprised that he didn't have a cloven hoof.

He and I did a hitch at Camp Drum. Of the two of us, I hid my resentment of army life. He never had to stand in line with a tin plate for food. He didn't pull guard duty or KP. He never curry-combed a man.

Trooper was big, almost black, and well muscled. He had a head like Fort Knox. He had more callous in his mouth than a dead politician.

We were the regimental guidon. Which means we rode at the head of the column of guns and caissons with a red-and-white pennant sticking out of a stirrup.

I always felt that Major Montgomery Sisko III made a double mistake when he told Trooper and me that we would do guidon duty. Trooper hated all other horses and one human—me. I was a rear-rank buck private, still learning to ride a two-wheel bike.

The major, I suspect, was a sadist. Anyone who is the third of any name can't be all good. Sisko watched me mount Trooper, who turned in a tight circle trying to bite my leg, and he would bellow, "Soldier, are you going to ride that horse or is he going to ride you?"

Good question. Bad time to ask. Trooper spent the summer nights on an outdoor picket line with 34 horses. I drew extra duty grooming all 35 nags. Army horses are the only ones in the world who spend the night wise-cracking and telling each other what they will do to their riders tomorrow.

One Saturday I decided to ride Trooper at a trot all morning until he was lathered and weary. Then I would talk nice to him.

Well, as the fella says, it takes two to tango. I flung a McClellan saddle on this Hitler of horses and jammed a bridle in his fat mouth. Trooper knew it was Saturday and walked uneasily around the picket lines.

He broke into a trot. I yanked on the reins. He flung his head up and increased speed. Soon he was thundering at a gallop. He cut through the company streets. I saw the reins as noncoms flapped out of the tents wondering who the nut could be.

Trooper swung through a pine woods and headed for officer country. This, of course, comes under the criminal procedure code. The officers were in the middle of a baseball game on their very own grassy diamond.

Wives and children were yelling and applauding. They screened the infield. My horse sounded like the San Andreas Fault wrenching itself to death. The people heard him and split.

At the last second, I saw a peanut

Of the 22 factors which could have a bearing on heart problems, coffee drinking ranked lower than occupation, religion, coffee additives and tea additives — all of which ranked low when compared with other factors.

Among the variables found most often associated with heart disease deaths were heart damage resulting from blockage of an artery, history of diabetes, cigarette smoking, history of congestive heart failure, physical activity, weight and a history of high blood pressure.

"The risks, if any, of death from coronary heart disease associated with coffee drinking appear to be small," the study concluded. As for earlier studies which claimed a coffee drinking relationship, researchers involved in the Boston study say inaccurate testing could have been responsible.

To which aficionados of the brewed bean will add, we'll drink to that!

A Devil On 4 Hooves

By JIM BISHOP

stand. So did Trooper. He cleared everything, including the tin whistle. The ballplayers hit the deck. The four hooves threw great gouts of grass in the air.

When Trooper tired, he turned back to the picket line. Nobody put him on report. I was elected. My buddies figured a summary court at the least. Maybe a couple of years in the Fort Sill pokey.

All I got was extra duty. I was lucky. The officers recalled that the U.S. government didn't know they had soddied a baseball diamond, and they weren't supposed to have one. I drew the job of watering two horses at a time at 5:30 a.m. Which is as easy as falling out of bed.

Trooper saved his best shot for the day before we broke camp. We were leading the regiment out for firing practice at Oliphant Hill. He was unusually tractable. He did not lay his ears back. He did not try to kick nearby horses. He didn't even buck.

Anyone who has made the trip knows that there is a huge elm on the way to the hill. It is shaped like a giant bean shooter. The trunk is thick for four or five feet, then it splits in two heavy branches. The trail splits so that guns and men can go either way around the tree.

I was lulled into believing that this was one of his good days. When we came to the split trail, Trooper charged. I almost fell out of the saddle. He ignored both trails and headed down the middle for the tree.

The cannoneers were pop-eyed as Trooper tried to leap through the crotch of the elm. His chest got caught in it, and he hung there, four legs flailing in air.

I was stuck in the saddle. Major Montgomery Sisko III rode up purple with anger. "Soldier!" he roared. "DO you realize that you are destroying government property? You'll pay for this!"

I have made out a little label today. It states "Trooper." I am going to paste it on a bottle of glue and sing Happy Birthday . . .

White Rhodesia Unable To Survive?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The white-supremacist government in Rhodesia cannot survive a guerrilla war with black nationalists even if Cuba does not intervene on the side of the revolutionaries, American intelligence specialists say.

At this point, the U.S. sources also say there appears no option to a bloody war in Rhodesia as long as Prime Minister Ian Smith keeps power, unless he suddenly reverses his position on white political supremacy.

These sources add that a major guerrilla effort is not expected until the next rainy season, which starts in November, when the climate favors hit-and-run tactics.

In any fighting, the white Rhodesian forces are not considered capable of defeating the guerrillas over the long run, unless they get outside help or unless the nationalists' unity and discipline break down.

At this stage, the U.S. analysts feel certain that the Ian Smith regime will not be aided by other countries, not even the white-supremacist government in neighboring South Africa.

On the other side, these analysts say the leftist guerrilla movement is growing with increasing support from African nations, the Soviet Union and China and will be in a position to seriously challenge the Salisbury regime by next fall.

The whites, led by Smith, total only about 270,000 and are outnumbered by Rhodesian blacks 20 to 1. The government army has only 3,000 regulars and an effective reserve force of 10,000.

To date, intelligence sources say, there are about 1,000 guerrillas in Rhodesia with 4,000 more trained fighters just across the border in Mozambique. More guerrilla troops are being recruited and trained and should be ready within the year, the American sources add.

In explaining the dismal outlook seen for Smith, U.S. specialists say that even South African Prime Minister Johannes Vorster has made it clear to Smith that he will not help him keep power.

Negotiations have broken down between Smith and nationalist leaders on a transfer of power to the black majority, and Smith has rejected British efforts to arrange a settlement.

The "best hope" now for avoiding a bloody overthrow is "a palace revolt," according to the intelligence specialists.

They explain they are not talking about a coup. Rather Smith would be told by business and political leaders that he must resign to be replaced by officials who would negotiate an end to white control.

But even this option is given little chance of success. Most of the whites support Smith, and it would be difficult to pressure the stubborn prime minister to back away, the experts say.

Peltier Seeks Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Department of Commerce Director Gordon Peltier said he will urge again his request for a $900,000 funding boost for the department's consumer protection office.

Peltier said the request will be made at the board's meeting April 5.

The move follows a state Supreme Court ruling of last week which Peltier said left the Commerce Department as the only state agency empowered to have a consumer protection office.

The high court voted to nullify six partisan legislative measures, including one that would have transferred the state's consumer protection effort to the attorney general.

While the feud raged over who should control the office, half of the consumer office's staff was laid off due to a fund shortage. Peltier said the $900,000 sought would be used to rebuild his staff, now totalling 11 workers.

He blamed partisan politics at the Controlling Board as reason for the staff cutbacks.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I think I've made a discovery. After drinking milk for 40 years, I've come to the conclusion that many of my symptoms are due to it. Have you known people who develop intestinal problems and gas from milk? If I stop it, will I be depriving myself of an important part of my diet?

Mrs. K.R., R.I.

Dear Mrs. R.: Milk is close to being the so-called perfect food. It supplies the protein, the minerals and vitamins essential for growth. Children, of course, are best served by this important nutritious substance.

You no longer need milk, especially if there is the slightest suggestion that it is responsible for your distress.

There are many excellent substitutes for milk that can supply nutritious elements. Minerals and vitamins can be found in many other foods.

A great many people have an intolerance to one of the milk sugars, especially lactose.

You are one of the fortunate ones who may have, by trial and error, found this allergic-like response.

Others may not be so fortunate and go on for many years suffering from this condition.

Is it true that bacteria in the mouth and in the intestines serve a real purpose? Do these same germs cause infections?

Miss B. B., Mich.

Dear Miss B.:

At the time of birth the intestinal tract is free from bacteria. Soon thereafter germs, or bacteria, favorable to the body are present.

It is well known that bacteria in the intestines may play an important role in the manufacture of some types of vitamins. It is for this reason that vitamin supplements are important to those people who take large quantities of antibiotics over a long period of time. The antibiotics which kill the bacteria may thus interfere with the production of vitamins. Not all bacteria are disease causing. These are known as pathogens.

Many bacteria play an important role in maintaining the health functions of the body.

House Votes Plan Of Self-Insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House voted 89-0 Thursday to authorize the state to self insure its motor vehicles, aircraft and watercraft against liability claims.

But the state Department of Transportation grounded its 8,000 vehicles Thursday rather than operate under the plan. The department is looking for a new insurer to handle its expired liability policy.

"The bill will permit the state to cover its own employees during the time they are actually working for the State of Ohio," said sponsor William Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia.

The bill was sent to the Senate where Hinig predicted prompt action.

The Tuscarawas County lawmaker described the legislation as a "stopgap measure that will remain in effect only through July 1, 1977."

In the meantime, he said, the legislature would approve a more comprehensive bill.

Under the bill being considered, each state agency would set aside a reserve fund equal to premium payments under old insurance policies to pay any claims resulting from mishaps involving state vehicles.

A recent opinion by Atty. Gen.

William J. Brown said the state could not legally insure itself. The bill would change that, authorizing in law state self insurance.

About 14,000 state vehicles used to be covered by a liability policy, but when the policy expired Jan. 1, officials found renewal costs too high. About 6,000 vehicles, including aircraft and boats, were not covered by the policy which expired.

Highway Patrol vehicles were placed under an emergency liability policy when the old policy expired.

The transportation department is seeking a similar arrangement, since workers expressed concern over possible lapses in coverage under the self insurance plan.

The emergency plan was expected to be obtained sometime today, according to Transportation Director Richard Jackson.

While the department is waiting for that policy to be signed, Jackson ordered his department's vehicles grounded except for emergency travel.

The Black Laws of Ohio were repealed by the 1848-1849 session of the Legislature. The laws prohibited settlement of blacks unless they could show a certificate of their freedom and provide freeholders to give security for their good behavior. The laws excluded blacks from the common schools, and prohibited blacks from being sworn or allowed to give testimony in any court in any case where a white person was concerned. The repeal legislation provided schools for black children.

POSTER CONTEST — Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff judged posters advertising the Jackson Twp. Elementary School Fun Fair, which is scheduled for April 9 at 5:30 p.m. The posters were made by 5th and 6th grade classes and the EMR group. Winner was Bryan Amann, a 5th grader. Michelle Dotson placed second, Beth Jordan was third, Betty Bennett (not pictured), was fourth, Suzanne Matthews placed fifth, and Teresa Carle and Perry Dowdy tied for sixth place.

California Counties Breaking Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secession fever is gripping the most populous county in the United States.

Residents of its many scattered communities, complaining of neglect, isolation from the seat of power and burdensome taxes, are saying they want to break up Los Angeles County, home of 7.3 million people.

"There are 78 cities in Los Angeles County and an overlay of county government of mammoth proportions," said Jack Baum, who heads a committee looking into secession of the residential-minded San Fernando Valley. "What we have now is government by crisis."

Proponents say the county has become unmanageable and that its breakup into smaller counties is inevitable. Talk of secession has been going on for years, but it is finally being turned into action.

The Santa Clarita Valley, a farming area in the northwest corner of the county, has taken the first step toward breaking away and forming Canyon County. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. signed a bill in February laying the groundwork for the proposed 66,000-resident county.

A five-member commission, yet to be appointed by Brown, will make a six-month study for submission to county voters.

"We're completely separated geographically from Los Angeles County," said Daniel Hon, chairman of the Canyon County Formation Committee. "We're surrounded by mountains on all sides. It's 40 miles to the county seat (Los Angeles). It's even in a different telephone area code."

The Santa Clarita Valley is not alone in its desire for secession. The sprawling San Gabriel Valley, including Pasadena and more than a dozen smaller communities, wants to form its own county. So does the South Bay area, extending south from Los Angeles along the coast.

The San Fernando Valley wants to secede from both the county and the city of Los Angeles and form a city-county government. The city of Los Angeles, meanwhile, is also studying formation of a city-county. San Francisco now has the only city-county government in California.

"The breakup is inevitable," said Louis T. Gilbertson, mayor of Temple City and leader of the San Gabriel Valley secessionists.

"The county is unmanageable now. There is no way foreseeable to put the county under control except to break it up," he said. "I hope it will occur in a responsible fashion, not piecemeal."

Los Angeles County, with 4,060 square miles, stretches from the ocean to the Mojave Desert and is crisscrossed by mountain ranges that slice it up into isolated valleys. It is larger than Delaware and Rhode Island and nearly the size of Connecticut. Its population is larger than all but six states. Its budget of $3 billion exceeds that of 30 other states. Yet it is governed by only five men, a board of supervisors with the power of executive and legislative decisions.

Dear Abby:

Love Holds Together Interfaith Marriage

DEAR ABBY: About that Protestant mother who was upset because her son married a Catholic girl:

I also came from a strict Catholic family. The girl I fell in love with was the daughter of a Methodist minister. When we made plans to marry, my folks and all the relatives made an awful fuss. Added to their objections was the fact my lady love had a Jewish ancestor way back in her family.

Regardless of all their objections, we went ahead and got married. None of my people came to the wedding. They also cut me out of their will. I could not have cared less.

My wife and I are both in our 80s and have celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary.

We have wonderful sons, daughters and grandchildren and have always made them feel free to marry whomever they wanted, regardless of religion.

The Lord must have approved of our marriage or He wouldn't have blessed us with such a long and happy one.

BROAD-MINDED IN MPLS.

DEAR BROAD-MINDED: Three cheers for an interfaith marriage that let love overcome religious nitpicking.

DEAR ABBY: Please print your answer so my husband will see it.

What do you think of a 28-year-old man who has been married for seven years and who tells all his friends at work EXACTLY what happened in his bedroom the night before?

We have always had a wonderful sex life, which keeps getting better every year. But since I caught wind of this, I feel cheap.

When I questioned my husband about it, he denied saying anything, but from the things that have come back to me, I know that he has been talking plenty. (The wife of one of his buddies gets all the details from her husband, and she tells me.)

If my husband doesn't get over these high school habits, I'm afraid it will be the end of our sex life. Help me.

OPEN BOOK IN MICHIGAN

DEAR OPEN: Tell your husband that you KNOW he has been babbling at work about your intimate relations, and if he doesn't keep his big mouth shut, he's not going to have anything to talk about!

DEAR ABBY: I have a backyard neighbor who has been watching me for the last two years. I thought perhaps he wanted to be friendly, but when I see him on the street, he turns his head.

He has a 9 to 5 job and is home on weekends. Every time I look out of my back window I see him in his backyard, staring at my back door, waiting for me to appear.

He has driven past my home several times, slowing up to look. Even the neighbors have mentioned it.

He is married, but I seldom see his wife. We have never spoken to each other, either, but I'm sure she knows that I am her neighbor. My husband and I don't want to cause any trouble as we plan on living in this neighborhood for a long time, but this man gives me the creeps.

Do you think I should go to the police? He really hasn't done anything except stare at my back door and drive around my house.

Should I initiate a conversation with this man or perhaps talk to his wife? Please help me.

FRIIGHTENED

DEAR FRIIGHTENED: You may be unjustifiably suspicious, or you may have a point. While with your husband, initiate a friendly conversation with this neighbor. His reaction should tell you something.

Solar Energy Proves Cheap To Professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University professor with a $200 solar energy system in his home to heat water says his system will pay for itself in two years.

Prof. Stanley A. Mumma of the Ohio State mechanical engineering department, who teaches a seminar in residential applications of sun power, said the portable water heating system in his Columbus home will save him $125 per year in electrical costs.

He described the system as "the simplest and most economically feasible application for our climate."

"Solar air conditioning is farther in the future. A great deal more engineering must go into its design before it is practical," said Mumma.

The professor said a device known as a heat pump is available as a backup system for solar devices during cloudy weather. Otherwise, conventional energy sources must be used.

"An electrical heat pump, which works like a refrigerator in reverse to extract heat from outside air, currently costs only 60 per cent as much to operate as electrical resistance heating in the Columbus area," said Mumma.

He said the heat pump provides electrical heat almost as cheaply as heating systems using fuel oil.

Mumma said a solar energy system costing no more than $7,500 could fill most of the heating needs of a new 1,800-square-foot home, and would pay for itself in 10 years. He said 700 square feet of plates to collect the sun's rays would be needed. The systems are not readily available but solar panels for a do-it-yourself system are on the market at prices from $5 to $20 per panel.

SOUTHERN SUPPER

Blackeye peas with sausage, collard greens, cornbread, fruit and beverage.

Blackeye Peas With Sausage

1/4 pound (1/2 cup) bulk pork sausage
1 1/2 cups water
10-ounce package frozen blackeye peas

Salt and pepper to taste

In a 2-quart saucepan over low heat gently cook sausage, crumbling with a fork, for about 5 minutes; do not brown. Add water; bring to a boil. Add blackeye peas and bring rapidly to a boil, separating peas with a fork. Cover and boil gently until tender — about 50 minutes. Add salt and pepper. There should be only a few tablespoons of liquid left. Makes 4 servings.

SUNDAY SUPPER

Batter-fried shrimp with sweet hot sauce, fried rice, fresh fruit, tea.

Sweet Hot Sauce

2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons seedless black raspberry preserves
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
5 dashes tabasco sauce

With a fork thoroughly beat together all the ingredients until blended. Let stand at room temperature until ready to serve. This interesting blend of ingredients for a Chinese-style condiment comes from "Good Food and How To Cook It" by Ann Seranne (Morrow), a cookbook well worth having.

Blue Shield Seeks Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Blue Shield insurer has submitted a rate hike request package to the Department of Insurance calling for premium increases ranging from 3 to 85 per cent effective June 1.

Monthly increases asked by Ohio Medical Indemnity of Columbus (OMI) range from 11 cents to $4.42 for nongroup individual policies and from 20 cents to $11.79 for nongroup family policies, the insurance department said.

An estimated 220,000 subscribers will be affected in Columbus, Cincinnati, Akron, Toledo, Canton and Lima, the department said.

Blue Shield is an independent, nonprofit membership corporation that provides protection against the costs of surgery and other items of medical care.

Public hearings on the rate changes will be held due to a law signed by the governor last week. However, no hearing dates have been set.

Akron would feel impact of the changes more than other cities. The OMI proposal calls for increases that would average 38 per cent, and some subscribers could get 85 per cent rate hikes.

Food Stamp Cutoff Upheld

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal and state regulations cutting off food stamps to persons receiving rent subsidies have been upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeal was filed by Louise Compton, 60, Knoxville, Tenn., whose food stamp allotment allowing her to purchase $82 worth of food for $29 was cut off by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture under rules set up by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Compton's only source of income is $146 monthly from Social Security plus $44 contributed by her son. She pays rent of $55 and receives a rent subsidy of $127 per month from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, court records show.

The Tennessee welfare agency, acting under rules set by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, said the HUD rent subsidy must be counted as income and therefore Mrs. Compton was ineligible for food stamps.

22 Lines Warn Of Flash Floods

HONOLULU (AP) — Can a telephone call outrace a surging, destructive flash flood?

Yes. "Hawaii has recorded an average of five serious flash floods a year since 1965," says Edward M. Carlstead, meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service's office here.

The Hawaiian Telephone Co. provides 22 special telephone lines to remote rain gauges in the island chain to gather detailed reports on rainfall for the Weather Service. Timely, accurate readings provide warnings of possible dangerous flash floods.

Bigger Type For Amendments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elderly and other Ohioans who have trouble reading fine print would have a better chance of understanding proposed constitutional amendments under a bill making its way through the legislature, sponsors say.

The bill would halt the practice of putting the proposals into 4-point type, or even smaller, and require instead that the explanations be in at least 10-point type, under a headline of at least 30 points.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, also would require in his bill—which received 24-6 Senate approval earlier this week—that the package would have to be enclosed in a black border setting it off from the remainder of a newspaper's classified or legal advertising content.

The Mahoning County lawmaker, urging passage in the Senate, displayed an entire newspaper page of fine print that was used last fall to fulfill a requirement for publication of ballot issues.

"This is in type so small that even those persons with a magnifying glass would have trouble finding out what those (nine) issues were all about," he said. The senator said that while the page came from his hometown newspaper "it was much the same all over the state."

Meshel said the cost of his proposal would be negligible statewide. He estimated that putting the explanations into so-called display (as opposed to classified) ads would have hiked last fall's costs from about $230,000 to about $322,000.

He recalled that a few years ago, the legislature abandoned its former requirement that pamphlets containing the ballot issue explanations be sent to all of the state's voters. "We did it to save about $500,000 a year, but we turned out to be penny wise and pound foolish," he said.

The senators said he was convinced that many voters rejected Gov. James A. Rhodes' four-part ballot package last November because they didn't understand it "the merits of the issues notwithstanding." He said he believes many failed to be convinced of the merits of the proposals on the basis of privately financed, commercial-oriented media campaigns.

When the state discontinued the ballot pamphlets, which were mailed to voters, it created at the same time the Ohio Ballot Board which is assigned the task of devising understandable language to explain issues in a new type of pamphlet available to voters when they reach the polls. Meshel claims voters need time to study them beforehand.

He stressed that his bill does nothing

Ohio's first Board of Agriculture was established by the Legislature in February, 1846.

In early Ohio the Western Reserve enjoyed such a wide and important trade in dairy products the area became known as "Cheesedom." before 1850 dairy products were prepared on individual Ohio farms rather than factories and women did most of the work. Their output in 1849 amounted to 34 million pounds of butter and more than 20 million pounds of cheese.

Interchange of Viruses Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one seems sure, but Agriculture Department scientists say pigs can probably catch the flu from humans as well as pass it on to them if everyone concerned is not careful.

Swine — that means hogs and pigs — have recently come in for notoriety with the identification of a deadly "swine flu strain" of virus, and the government announced plans Wednesday to vaccinate Americans against the disease.

The swine flu strain was blamed for 20 million deaths worldwide in a 1918 epidemic, including 500,000 Americans. The rare kind of flu, which now has cropped up again, reportedly was first identified or associated among swine and thus named after the barnyard animals.

Dr. J. M. Hejl, deputy administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said pigs catch colds and flu the same as humans and that those ailments probably can be passed back and forth between people and pigs.

"I don't know, but if I can believe what I read, I think they are saying that people can be affected by a flu virus from swine," Hejl told a reporter. "If it goes one way (from hogs to people), I would think it could go the other way (from people to hogs), too."

Hejl said, however, that flu is not considered by USDA to be as a big threat to swine as hog cholera — which is not transmitted to humans — and that he was not aware of an effective vaccine to protect swine against the flu.

Cultists Becoming Christians?

NEW YORK (AP) — Far-out cultists, after being restrained, sometimes show a readiness for gentler aspirations. At least that's indicated by reports about several former extreme militants, including one of the "Manson family."

Accounts say they've become earnest Christians.

Whatever the factors involved, whether circumstances, expediency or conscientious reappraisal, church workers in prisons say various onetime adherents of violence have turned to Biblical faith.

The reported turnabouts have indirect parallels to the claims of Patricia Hearst, of whom the defense unsuccessfully maintained that the cultic atmosphere of armed defiance submerged her own character through duress and fear.

Now, removed from the pressures, it was argued, she had repudiated the violence, a claim that didn't prevent the jury from convicting her.

In different contexts, and under varying motivations, former militants now in prison such as ex-Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver; claimed founder of the Symbionese Liberation

Army Clifford Jefferson; convicted Black Liberation Army leader Tim Dudley and convicted murderer Susan Atkins of the "Manson family" reportedly have rejected former ways and espoused Christianity.

Concerning Cleaver, now in jail in Alameda, Calif., after returning to this country voluntarily last fall from seven years as a fugitive in Algeria to face charges of attempted murder in a 1968 gun battle with police, jail chaplain Glenn Morrison is quoted in Baptist Press service:

"I just helped him put the pieces together. He knew he had a spiritual vacuum in his life and came to realize Jesus Christ could fill it. I feel the man is a genuine Christian. He is not ready to talk about it now because he doesn't want to be labeled as hypocritical Christian."

The story of the change in Susan Atkins, now serving a life sentence in the California Institute for Women, is told in the America Baptist magazine by Pete and Carol Bekendam, members of the First Baptist church of Pamona, Calif.

"The chaplain called me and said he had a request for a baptism — it had to be by immersion and he had no facilities," Bekendam recalls. Bekendam says he supplied a sixfoot farm tank, and the baptism took place on the prison lawn.

Afterward, Mrs. Bekendam relates, Susan said, "Thank the Lord, I'm clean." Adds Mrs. Bekendam: "I know it was real. The joy on Susan's face was something to see."

Convicted with Manson and three others of the 1969 murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others, Miss Atkins, 27, has claimed she acted under control of drugs and being "brainwashed" by Manson.

Revolutionary movements of 1830 and 1848, sending many thousands of Germans into exile, brought many of them to Ohio. In 1830, for example, only five per cent of Cincinnati residents were of German stock but within 10 years a fourth of the city population was German. Other large German colonies were established in northwestern Ohio, from Mercer and Auglaize counties to Toledo and Sandusky.

Less Drudgery... ... More Living

That's what retirement has meant to Fred and Frances. Of course, they spent close to forty years getting themselves ready.

They learned the richness of living . . . the adventures of believing and serving and sacrificing. They surrounded themselves with people who care, who are concerned, who like helping others. They based their lives on truths and ideals that do not change with every passing opportunity or disappointment. They found God.

Now they are prepared to enjoy the rest of life.

Not the REST. Who looks forward to idleness?

Rather THE REST . . . the years not yet lived . . . the unfolding culmination of our destiny as children of God.

In the lives of Fred and Frances, retirement has been one more Christian adventure. And a blessing to their church, their community and their family. They have more time now for things they ALWAYS valued most.

ROTARY GUEST — T. D. Van Camp, right, introduced Thursday's guest speaker to fellow Rotarians. Fred J. Milligan Sr., spoke to the club about the events leading up to the American Revolution, the celebration of 1876 and the projected celebrations for 1976. He stated that the American people should study the past 200 years of history and fight the centralization of government as it is a "disintegrating force from within." Milligan is a Columbus attorney and is active as a township trustee in Franklin County. He is also president of the Ohio Information Committee.

On Books And Activities At The Library

"King's Mountain" is the title of the National Geographic film to be shown in the Library on Friday at 7:30 p.m. It is an intensely dramatic film and because of the realistic scenes of violence depicted, National Geographic suggests Parental Guidance where young children are concerned.

But you could find something fascinating to read about this week in our new non-fiction. If you're trying to come up with a new idea for your garden this year, "Unfamiliar Flowers For Your Garden" by A. W. Darnell may inspire you.

Beat the inflation with "Restyling Your Wardrobe" from the Time-Life Art of Sewing series.

Whether you're into yoga or just beginning, "Yoga: The 8 Steps To Health and Peace" by Richard Hitleman will be of interest to you.

An unusual book dealing with faith has been written by John Baillie. "A Diary Of Private Prayer" is designed to help you find comfort and meaning through personal devotions. This is a large print edition.

Hans Holzer has come up with a book which attempts to prove you can dream dreams that can come true. "The Psychic Side of Dreams" investigates that phenomenon that most of us take for granted—dreams.

"Doctor" by G. Timothy Johnson, M.D. tells you what you should know about health care before you call a Dr. The author contends that informed patients get better medical care.

Burton L. White has written a book dedicated to healthier, happier, brighter childhoods. "The First Three Years Of Life" is a detailed guide to the intellectual and emotional development of the very young child.

On the other side of the scale is "Don't Die Broke" by Melvin J. Swartz. It's a guide to secure retirement and contains some good tips for estate planning.

Interested in old homes? "The Victorian Home In America" by John Maass will keep you entertained for hours with its many wonderful photos and descriptions.

Migration of snow geese is a fascinating feat of nature. "The Flight Of The Snow Geese" by Des and Jen Bartlett lets you travel with the flock on their journey.

New dog owners will get a lot of help from "Toward The Ph. D. For Dogs" by Martin and Chagnon. It discusses obedience from novice through utility.

A disturbing factor of American life is the subject of a new book by Christine Chapman. "America's Runaways" talks about the problem and what can be done about it.

"Ain't God Good" by Jerry Clower is the autobiography of a country boy who became a star on the Grand Ole Opry. It's filled with his wit and wisdom.

"Us Poor Folks And The Things Of Dog Flat Hollow" by Donald L. McCourry is another autobiography which presents a picture of grass-roots America.

For a weightier biography, try "The Rockefellers: An American Dynasty" by Collier and Horowitz.

"The Seven Sisters" by Anthony Sampson takes a look at the great oil companies and the world they shaped.

New historical novels cover a wide range of periods and people. "The Manly-Hearted Woman" by Frederick Manfred is based on a fascinating legend about the Dakota Indians.

A novel of the Civil War, "For Us The Living" by Antonia Van-Loon is also a love story. The backdrop is an America as brutal as it was noble.

Romance and adventure in a story about people and events leading up to the annexing of the Oregon Territory is the theme of "The Brightwood Expedition" by Kay McDonald.

"Missouri Blue" by Joseph Finley is a warm, nostalgic novel of the 30s and the Depression.

The latest in the Marianne series of historical romance is "Marianne And The Lords Of The East" by Juliette Benzon.

A biographical novel by Tyler Whittle chronicles the life of Edward VII, King and Emperor. "Edward" takes up where "Bertie" left off.

"The Temple" by Jerome Weidman is a powerful novel about one man's determination to build a Synagogue in the heart of an American anti-Semitic Waspland.

If you like melodrama, tension and violence in your reading, "The Hostage Heart" by Gerald Green is a hospital story to leave you limp.

"The Peacock Spring" by Rumer Godden is set in India. It's the story of a diplomat's family and the problems they are brought to face.

Lisa Alther has written a novel about a girl in the 60s. "Kinflips" is a glance back by Ginny Babcock to see where she's been and where she's going.

"Sweet William" by Beryl Bainbridge is a modern novel dealing with a modern lifestyle.

Some new romantic suspense, westerns, science fiction and crime club titles round out the new fiction.

Be sure to include a stop at your Pickaway County District Public Library this week. It's the best bargain in town!

Columbus Woman Ohio Millionaire

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shirley Goedeck of Columbus became the Ohio Lottery's eighth millionaire winner Thursday night, but she said she has no definite plans for her newfound fortune.

"I really don't think I need anything," said Mrs. Goedeck, a state government secretary. "I'm going to continue working; I would feel useless not working," she added.

One of the things she would like to do is to take a trip to France, said Mrs. Goedeck, a widow and the mother of 19-year-old twins, David and Diana, who are freshmen at Ohio State University.

As the lottery's top winner, Mrs. Goedeck, an employee of the State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will receive annual checks of $50,000 for 20 years.

She appeared stunned when she realized she was the big winner.

"I kind of went blank when my number was drawn," she said. "I've never been very lucky."

The $100,000 winner was Lloyd McCaughin of Salem, a 59-year-old machinist and widower with four children. McCaughin indicated he wouldn't have any problem spending his winnings, saying he might use it "to retire, perhaps now."

Winning the $50,000 prize was Gloria Kukowicz of Toledo, 45, a widow and mother of a teenage daughter. Mrs. Kukowicz, a housekeeper at a Roman Catholic Church rectory, said she promised to take her daughter on vacation with part of her winnings.

A total of seven $10,000 prizes were won by:

—Roger Fetter, 26, of Waldo, a stock clerk.

—George Campbell, 40, of Painesville, an equipment operator.

—Virgil Ross, 54, of Cambridge, a cemetery superintendent.

—Sandra Dewey of West Milton, a housewife.

—Theresa Williams of Eastlake, a housewife.

—Herman Wigal of Beach Bottom, W.Va., retired.

—Carl Bechtel, 47, of Mansfield, a printer.

Additional $1,000 prizes were won by Herbert Banton of Painesville, Andrew

Military Heroin Ring Broken

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Operating from the safety of U.S. military bases in this country and Thailand, a syndicate led by Army and Air Force sergeants smuggled more than $300 million in pure heroin into this country on Air Force tanker planes, federal officials say.

The heroin was hidden in false bottoms attached to wooden tables and other furniture shipped from U Tapao Air force Base in Thailand as military baggage or was concealed in black AWOL bags — the small hand luggage carried by returning GIs.

That was the account given Thursday by officials here and in Washington after federal indictments were returned in Raleigh against 14 persons, most of them present or former military men, on charges of conspiring to import heroin.

The three-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury was made public after 11 of the defendants were arrested in a series of coordinated raids by military police, federal agents and local police. Three of those indicted were already in jail, one in this country and two in Thailand.

The heroin arrived via Strategic Air Command planes at Mather and Travis air force bases in California, Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., and Langley Air Force Base, Va., officials said, and was soon on its way to the streets of New York and other major cities.

At least 220 pounds of heroin came into this country that way between August 1974 and last October when the operation began to fall apart, officials of the Justice Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration said.

But the syndicate had been operating since 1968 from the American Star Bar on Pittbury Road in Bangkok, and officials refused to say how much heroin the ring might have shipped into this country during that time.

Peter N. Bensinger, federal drug enforcement administrator, said in Washington that the demise of the syndicate would "have a major crippling impact on importation of heroin into the United States."

One of those indicted in the heroin conspiracy was Leslie "Ike" Atkinson, 50, a retired Army master sergeant from Goldsboro, N.C., who is serving a 19-year sentence in the federal prison in Atlanta on a previous conviction for importing heroin from Thailand.

The indictment said Atkinson had continued to run the operation from his prison cell with the help of his daughter, Leslie Sharon Atkinson Arrington, 24, and her husband, Michael Otis Arrington, 24, of Raleigh, both of whom were also indicted.

Among the others indicted were James Smeddley, 54, described as the procurer of heroin, and Jasper Myrick Jr., 23, of Montgomery, Ala., an alleged courier. Both are now serving terms in Kalang Prison in Bangkok.

Also named in the indictments, for allegedly serving as packers, couriers or mailers of heroin to other defendants in the United States were Freddie Clay Thornton, 40, Detroit; Rudolph Valentino Jennings, 49, Goldsboro, N.C.; William King Wright, 30, Washington; William Thomas, 42, Goldsboro; Monroe Lorenzo Martin Jr., 43, Long Beach, Calif.; Robert Ernest Patterson, 34, Hampton, Va.; William Kelly Brown, 38, Augusta, Ga.; James McArthur, 40, Fayetteville, N.C.; and Charles Murphy Gillis, 40, Goldsboro.

Minor Automobile Accidents Keep Policemen Busy

Circleville Police investigated five automobile accidents Thursday, two of which involved minor injuries to persons.

Catherine Leasure, 17, Chillicothe, lost control of a car she was driving on Western Ave. just north of Main St. at 7:17 a.m. yesterday and hit a utility pole. Donald Haddox, 45, a passenger in the car, was referred to a doctor for treatment of an injury.

Russell E. Teets, 49, Route 4, complained of dizziness after the car he was driving struck a car driven by Carl E. Ramey, 123 Pontious Lane at the intersection of Watt and Pickaway Streets. He was referred to a doctor for treatment. Both vehicles were damaged.

Fender benders included an accident on East Main Street in which the drivers of the vehicles involved were Donald Reams, 29, 1455 N. Court St., and Donald C. Marshall, 65, Route 2; Carolyn Smith, 33, Parker Court, and Charles L. Stevens, 64, Route 5, were involved in a minor accident at Washington and Union.

Lebanese Warfare Rages Unchecked

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslem leaders threatened today to shell from land and sea the Christian stronghold in which President Suleiman Franjeh has taken refuge.

The Christian-Moslem civil war raged with full fury in Beirut and the surrounding hills. The estimated death toll since last April passed the 13,000 mark. Declarations from both sides indicated that Syrian plans for a political compromise were doomed and that the war would only be settled by a military showdown.

Police reported 146 persons killed and more than 200 wounded after midnight, raising the toll to 1,172 dead since the last Syrian-sponsored ceasefire began collapsing on March 11. But the police figures were incomplete.

Incorporation Filed By R-Farms

R-Farms Inc., a general corporation which will engage in both agribusiness and recreational land use in the Central Ohio area, has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State.

Incorporators are James Waltermire and Orley R. Bosworth of Columbus.

R-Farms will purchase land for farming and to provide recreation for its shareholders and their families.

"Many people would like to be able to get out into the country, but the initial investment is high and the owners then must hire someone to farm the land," Bosworth said in explaining the concept.

"R-Farms will permit them to combine investing in land and having a 'place in the country,' and the farming will be done by professional agribusiness people," he said.

The corporation is presently looking at two parcels of land in the Central Ohio area.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Did you ever wonder what takes place when a team reaches the day they are going to play in the Regional finals of the state basketball tournament?

Players and coaches "hit the deck" at 8:30 a.m., it had been lights out at midnight, and they all had a good night's sleep.

At 9:30 a.m. they load into cars and are transported to a nearby restaurant for a hearty breakfast. Then it's back to the motel where they go over the scouting report with the coaches and discuss their opponent and where improvement can be made.

Now, it's off to the old fieldhouse at the University of Dayton where the boys spend about 45 minutes practicing shooting and walking through their drills and game plans.

Back to the motel and the players are on their own for "nap sessions", napping or just watching television.

When the clock hits 3:30 p.m., it's back into the cars and off for a steak dinner. Then, it's back to the motel for just plain rest and relaxation.

Shortly after 6:30, they load up the cars and take off for the arena. They spend a little time walking around the arena and then to the locker rooms to get taped and dressed.

The coach goes over the game plan and then gives the boys about five minutes to just sit and meditate before coming onto the floor for the warmups.

Then it's back to the dressing room for assignment discussion and the removal of warmup pants.

Now—it's back onto the floor, to a tremendous ovation from the huge throng that made the trip, and they're ready to go.

But there are some other things that make it really great, such as—Coach Jim Bailey and his wife Lou sitting up until after 3 a.m. getting a tip sheet ready for the next day's game—The tremendous job that was done by Circleville Athletic Director Larry Cook on all counts—John Robinson providing free bus transportation to Dayton—The fine help Jo Ann Brink—Lou Bailey and Charmie Hughes washing the players uniforms at the motel and the cheerleaders ironing them—Logan Elm and Teays Valley presenting banners—Fans from all over Pickaway County, and we even saw people from Ross, Fairfield and Fayette there rooting for the Tigers—Returning to the motel after losing in the finals to find the lobby and halls lined with fans who gave the boys a tremendous ovation—The fun of a cake and birthday party for Warren Yamarick in the motel—The thrill of being met by sheriff's cruisers Sunday afternoon at Routes 22 and 104 and the caravan through town, with lights blinking, sirens wailing and horns blowing.

All of the surrounding area is proud of the job the team did and the team is equally proud of the solid backing.

But, what else would you expect from the great people who make up Pickaway County?

Our "fearless" forecast—In the State tournament, we like Middletown in AAA, Dayton Roth in AA and Arcanum in A. Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

Westfall '9' Tops Trace In Opener

Chris Riddle turned in a fine five-hit pitching performance as Westfall opened the baseball season Thursday with a 4-3 win over Miami Trace on the Panthers' diamond.

He gave up five walks while fanning seven of the Panthers.

James and Foster shared mound duties for Miami Trace allowing eight hits, two walks and whiffing one.

Trace opened the scoring with a single run in the bottom of the second but Westfall took the lead with two runs in the top of the fourth and added two more in the fifth. The Panthers ended their scoring with a pair of markers in the bottom of the fifth.

Kevin Reid led the Mustangs plate attack with a pair of singles and two RBIs while Bill Hamman, David Clem, John Long, Rick Stillings, Mack Dick and Neil Keller each rapped a one-bagger. Stillings also had two RBIs.

Miami Trace committed six errors in the game while the Mustangs only misplayed the ball once.

Westfall, 1-0, will be at Fairfield Union 4:30 p.m. today.

Braves Top Cincy Reds; Win Tilt 7-6

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Scrambling like teams caught in a pennant race, the Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves shuffled the lead back and forth in extra innings before the Braves prevailed 7-6 in a Thursday night exhibition baseball game.

Rookie Red outfielder Joe Youngblood threw out Darrell Evans at the plate to preserve a 5-5 tie in the 10th inning, then drove in the lead run for Cincinnati in the top of the 11th.

However, Tom Paciorek singled in the tying score for Atlanta and scored on Clarence Gaston's game-winning single off loser Will McEneaney in the bottom of the 11th. Mike Beard got the victory.

A crowd of 6,086 watched the game. The Braves, who had another team win a 2-1 victory over the Yankees earlier Thursday in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., got more good news Thursday with the arrival of Roger Moret.

The tall lefty, 14-3 last season with Boston, arrived from Puerto Rico after being located by the president of the team for which he played winter ball.

Still missing is Braves pitcher Pablo Torrealba, who like Moret, apparently hadn't heard that spring training camp opened after contract talks between team owners and players stalemate last week.

Eldon Miller OSU Cage Coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eldon Miller, the young, quiet man who turned Western Michigan's basketball program around, will be assigned the same task today by Ohio State.

The Big Ten Conference school, suffering through its worst season in history (6-20), will tap the 36-year-old Western Michigan mentor to replace the resigned Fred Taylor, Bill Hosket said Thursday night.

Hosket, one of the finalists to replace his old college coach, told a sports writer, "Miller has the job."

Ohio State called a 9 a.m. EST press conference to announce the successor to Taylor, the 51-year-old dean of Big Ten basketball coaches who just finished his 18th year with the Buckeyes.

Miller, when contacted in Philadelphia Thursday for the NCAA tournament this weekend, had no comment on whether he would be in that city or Columbus today.

However, the Kalamazoo, Mich., Gazette reported earlier this week that Miller was in Columbus Wednesday.

Joe Hoy, the Western Michigan athletic director, confirmed that Miller was one of the three finalists for the Ohio State post. Hoy said Ed Weaver, OSU's athletic director, told him so Monday.

The other finalists were believed to be Don DeVoe, recently let out as Virginia Tech's mentor, and Hosket, who has no coaching experience, but was an Ohio State All-American and played briefly in the National Basketball Association.

Also considered heavily were Bob Knight of top-ranked Indiana, Darrell Hedrick of Miami (Ohio) and two NBA assistant coaches, former Ohio State players Larry Siegfried and Joe Roberts.

The 5-foot-11 Miller was once a star for Tennessee Coach Ray Mears when Mears guided Wittenberg to small college prominence. Miller, a native of Gnadenhuetten, Ohio, was the Most Valuable Player on Wittenberg's 1961 national championship squad.

At age 23, Miller inherited the Wittenberg job when Mears left and guided Wittenberg to the national finals and a 26-2 record. He averaged 18 victories a season with the Tigers and all eight of his teams were ranked in the nation's Top Twenty.

Western Michigan struggled through seven straight losing seasons before Miller took over in 1971. Since then, he has had only one losing campaign, 8-18 his second year.

Miller hit the jackpot this winter. The Broncos won their first sole Mid-American crown with a record 15 league victories and were 24-2, another mark for MAC squads. He was also named the league's Coach of the Year.

Ironically, Miller's Broncos edged DeVoe's VPI team in overtime in a

Dodgers Shut Out Phils, 7-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Right-hander Don Sutton, gearing up for opening day, and left-hander Ron Bryant, hoping to win a spot on the roster, are both off to impressive starts for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The two made their spring training debuts Thursday afternoon by combining for a 7-0 shutout of the Philadelphia Phillies. Sutton, flashing midseason form, fired six innings of two-hit ball, struck out three batters and walked none.

"I wanted to go as long as I could," said Sutton, who has already been named the club's opening-day pitcher for the fifth straight year. "I pitched five innings the other day in an intrasquad game and felt like I could go even farther."

"I felt the same today," Bryant, trying to hook on with the Dodgers as a free agent, worked the final three innings, gave up two hits and struck out four.

"I have to be encouraged after what I did today," said Bryant. "I felt really good out there."

Bryant won 24 games for San Francisco in 1973, but went downhill after that. He injured his back in a swimming pool accident and managed only a 3-15 mark with the Giants in 1974. He was dealt to St. Louis last season, lost his only decision and then went into temporary retirement.

A good showing by Bryant would help the Dodgers ease the probable loss of Andy Messersmith, who has played out his option and is currently trying to sell his services to the highest bidder.

Dave Lopes and Ivan DeJesus provided the offense in Thursday's game. Lopes homered and doubled to drive in three runs and DeJesus also hit a home run.

Elsewhere, Kansas City's Al Fitzmorris surrendered just two infield hits over five innings as the Royals trimmed the Chicago White Sox 2-0; Lefty Pete Falcone struck out seven batters in three innings to help the St.

Louis Cardinals edge the New York Mets 1-0.

A two-run homer by John Ellis broke a seventh-inning tie and led the Texas Rangers to a 10-8 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles; Pittsburgh's Al Oliver made a game-saving catch with the bases loaded and added a two-run double as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Detroit Tigers 4-2.

Jose Morales pinch-hit a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning to give the Montreal Expos a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros; Shortstop Eddie Brinkman's double error on Tom Paciorek's sacrifice bunt in the 10th inning permitted the winning run to score in the Atlanta Braves' 2-1 win over the New York Yankees. The Braves won again in a night game with Cincinnati, edging the Reds 7-6 in 11 innings on Clarence Gaston's run-scoring single.

New acquisitions Ed Herrmann and Bill Melton combined to drive in three runs and lead the California Angels past the Oakland A's 4-1; A three-run homer by Dwight Evans and a two-run shot by John Balaz powered the Boston Red Sox past the Minnesota Twins 7-2.

Three RBI by rookie Gene Reynolds, including a two-run double in the decisive fifth-inning rally, led the San Diego Padres past the Chicago Cubs 8-5, and outfielder Tommie Smith capped a five-run ninth-inning rally with a two-run single for Cleveland as the Indians slipped by the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7.

TRAINING AT POMPAÑO — Billy Haughton is shown driving Keystone Banchee by Most Happy Fella and Bye Bye Betty at Pompano Raceway. One of the 2-year-olds in the Haughton Stable is El Besto Hanover, by Best of All and out of Elly May, and owned by Dr. Robert McCoy of Circleville.

I had the privilege just recently to travel to Pompano Park, Pompano, Florida where some of the most famous stables train like Haughton, Dancer, Graham, Beisinger, Castleton, Sholty, Huber, Todd, O'mara, Popfinger, Nickells and McNeil.

There are a total of 386 two year olds in training at the famous mile training track. These colts start training the first of November and start racing eight months later.

The Haughton stable consists of 100 2-year-olds, 55 3-year-olds and 10 aged horses. Billy Haughton arrives at the track anywhere from 6 to 6:30 a.m. where he checks on his stable area of four barns, 85 employees and 10 assistant trainers. The Haughton stable has a payroll in an excess of $10,000 per week.

The work time for training the horses is between 8 and 8:30. Some colts are worked on Monday and Thursday and the rest are worked on Tuesday and Friday, then are jogged two miles the other four days. The 2-year-olds are worked in sets; each set consists of 4 or 5 colts. Haughton's 2-year-olds are being trained anywhere from 2:25 to 2:32 at the present time.

Haughton himself on work days works 12 horses, three trips each, spending 36 miles a day on the jog cart, for an average of 200 miles a week. Billy Haughton's day at the track ends about 3 or 4 p.m. and returning some nights to drive races at Pompano Raceway, where he is racing 20 head of horses. The Haughton stable earned $3,000,000 in the year 1975.

Alongside Billy each morning is his son Peter Haughton, 21, who is always giving a helping hand to his father.

Billy Haughton, age 51, and his wife, Dorothy, have five children, four boys and one girl, the oldest being Billy Jr. age 25 and youngest is daughter Holly, age 15.

During the winter months they reside in their home at Pompano Beach, Fla. along Intercoastal Highway and in the summer months between traveling, they reside on 14 acres on Long Island, N.Y. and have just recently acquired 90 acres in New Hampshire.

I would like to take this opportunity to say congratulations to the fine basketball team and coaching staff of Circleville High School on a very successful season. The community is proud of their success.

Until later — good racing luck.

Indiana Favored

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The UCLA basketball team is here but the UCLA mystique is gone.

A powerhouse team that played the favorite's role for as long as anyone can remember, UCLA is in the unfamiliar position of underdog as the NCAA prepared to hold its championship semifinal doubleheader Saturday at the Spectrum.

Indiana, which routed UCLA 84-64 in the first game of the season last November, is a six-to-eight-point choice to beat the Bruins again after Rutgers plays Michigan in the opener.

"Opening games are often not a reliable yardstick for comparison," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, uncertain that his Big Ten brutes should be rated that much better than the defending national champions. "UCLA has improved greatly over the season."

Indiana has also improved. The Hoosiers, in fact, appear to be peaking with a 30-0 record that includes victories over St. John's, Alabama and Marquette in the regional playoffs.

"The availability of Scott May makes us a stronger club at this point than a year ago," said Knight, referring to the fact that the All-American forward was virtually useless in last year's playoffs with an injured left arm.

The Bruins, winners of 10 national championships under John Wooden, started this season under new coach Gene Bartow in a typical fashion. After that embarrassing loss to Indiana on national television, they continued to fumble and feel their way while adjusting to the traditional program.

"Our players were still learning about a new coach," says Bartow. "We ran a lot of people in and out."

The once-mighty Bruins were even beaten on their home court — something that hadn't happened for 98 games at Pauley Pavilion. Bartow got hate mail, obscene phone calls and there was talk of a mutiny. He admits it wasn't easy following a man of Wooden's stature.

"I wouldn't recommend it for young coaches, a steady diet of following John Wooden," says Bartow. "But seriously, I'm happy to be in the final four. I think things have gone as well as expected when you follow a hot selection."

Before the Hoosiers and Bruins go after each other in front of some 15,000 fans at the Spectrum and millions more on national television, Rutgers and Michigan will match strikingly similar fast-breaking styles.

Rutgers, with a 31-0 record, and Indiana are the only major college unbeaten teams in the country.

Atlanta Braves In Drastic Shuffle

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When a major league baseball team struggles through its worst season in 33 years, changes are in order.

That's what happened to the Atlanta Braves in 1975, triggering drastic offseason activity that finds the club entering the 1976 campaign with a new owner, a new manager, new uniforms and, perhaps more important, plenty of new players.

It should generate new hope for Atlanta fans, who seldom appeared at the stadium a year ago when the club turned in a dismal 67-94 record, finishing a whopping 40½ games behind world champion Cincinnati in the National League West. The Braves drew only 534,672 fans at home, almost a quarter of a million fewer than the previous lowest figure since the club moved to Atlanta in 1966.

The new look started during the last World Series when fiery Dave Bristol was signed as the new field boss. Then, wealthy sportsman Ted Turner purchased the team for $10 million.

And, on paper at least, the Braves appear to have made some exceptional trades, especially the one that dealt Ed Goodson and dissatisfied Dusty Baker to the Los Angeles Dodgers for outfielders Jim Wynn and Tom Paciorek and infielders Lee Lacy and Jerry Royster.

In other moves, potential starting pitcher Roger Met was acquired from the Boston Red Sox for relief ace Tom House; first baseman-outfielder Mike Lum went to Cincinnati for shortstop Darrel Chaney and outfielder Ken Henderson and pitcher Dick Ruthven came from the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Ralph Garr and infielder Larvell Blanks.

It currently appears that Bristol will go with a four-man pitching rotation of Carl Morton, knuckleballer Phil Niekro, Moret and Ruthven. However, Moret was AWOL when camp opened and Ruthven is recovering from arm surgery.

The club also has Buzz Capra, who had an outstanding season two years ago but struggled through a 4-7 campaign last year. The bullpen is a question mark.

Club officials were pleased with catcher Earl Williams, who reported to camp weighing only 215 pounds, about 25 less than he normally weighs at reporting time.

Bristol appears to be set on an outfield of Wynn, speedster Roland Office and Henderson, with Dave May.

Paciorek and Clarence Gaston offering backup support. Paciorek also has been working out at first base, where veteran Darrell Evans is expected to perform.

Evans, coming off a poor season in which he hit only .243 and 22 home runs, is making the switch from third, leaving that spot to Lacy.

Chaney and Royster are involved in a fight at short and Royster is also working at second, where Marty Perez returns as a starter after hitting .275 in 1975, his best mark in seven major league seasons.

This year promises a vastly improved club, one not yet ready to challenge Cincinnati for division superiority, but one that appears capable of finishing as high as second or third.

In The Know Team Enter Finals

By KELLY STEELE

Last Saturday the varsity members of the In-The-Know team — senior Gloria Alvarez, juniors Matt Sauer and Dan Smith, and sophomore Richard Boulden — moved Circleville into the quarter-finals of the championship by defeating Marion-Franklin 300-130.

At this time there are only 8 remaining teams of the original 40. If the CHS team should win the next game, they will have gone further than any previous team from Circleville. In the next round on April 26 the team will play the winner of the Delaware Hayes-Franklin Heights game.

Advisor Wallace Higgins predicted that the probable winner would be Delaware. He stated that the Delaware team is very fast, but he felt there would be no particular problems.

Higgins explained that the strength of the CHS team is two extremely fast players — Alvarez and Boulden — with their strongest areas being literature and history. But he feels that the two other varsity members, Sauer and Smith, measure up. He stated, "Both made attempts and did very well the last game. It really depends on the situation and the questions. Overall there is a good team effort."

Higgins also commented that Circleville's weakest areas are music, and art, but that the team has improved considerably in art since the beginning of the year.

The team will continue to practice every morning from 7:30 until approximately 8 a.m. Practices are set up so that the situations are similar to that of the television program, certain questions to be answered in a set amount of time.

Higgins has been an advisor since the team first originated in 1967 while Mrs. Carol Mader has been an advisor since 1971.

Members of this year's reserve team backing up the varsity members are sophomore Curt Hoffman and juniors Dave Uland and Arthur Whitfield.

Latin Club Affiliated With National Group

By LESLIE RIED

Organized by Mrs. Winefred Breegle, the Latin Club has been growing for seven years. They are affiliated with the Junior Classical League, the national organization for high school Latin Clubs in the United States.

The club emblem is a winged horse, which denotes excellence in the arts and cultural pursuits. "Veni, Vidi, Vici," the Club motto, means "I came, I saw, I conquered."

The average membership of the club has been between 35 and 40; this year there are 34 members.

They meet the third Monday of every month. The purpose of the club is to help create an interest in Greek and Roman cultures, according to Mrs. Breegle.

The highlight of the year's activities is the Roman banquet held in April, which coincides with the National Latin Week.

Two years ago the club traveled to St. Louis for four days. Mrs. Breegle said they viewed an excellent collection of Greek and Roman gold jewelry.

Three Enter DE Contests

By DIANNE GREEN

Three CHS students participated in the Distributive Education Clubs of America State Contest last weekend. Mike Johnson, Pamela Miller, and Scott Mogan competed with 52 other Ohio DECA students in each of the 16 categories at the Columbus Sheraton Hotel.

Required for state contest entries is a rank of first or second place in one of the 26 district contests. In the district contest Scott placed first in Mathematics and Mike ranked second in Investments. Pam placed third in Display but was able to go on to state when the second place student dropped from the contest.

The contest consisted of a standardized test taken in parts in each division at the hotel and the Columbus Technical Institute. Pam also competed in the judging of a window display.

Those receiving first, second, and third places in the state contest will compete in the National DECA Contest to be held in Chicago.

The three CHS students were accompanied by Bill Rosengarten, DECA advisor.

LEADER WINNER — Jane Ayers has earned an honorable mention in the Betty Crocker Search for Leadership In Family Living contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ayers.

'America's Sweetheart' Gets Oscar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've had a wonderful life," says Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart" of silent films who will be honored next week with a special Oscar. "I'm grateful that I remember all the good things; the rest has been forgotten."

Miss Pickford, Hollywood's first superstar, will formally receive the award at Monday's Oscar ceremonies "in recognition of her unique contributions to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium."

The special Oscar, in fact, was actually presented last week when she appeared before a camera at Pickfair, her legendary hilltop mansion. Walter Mirisch, president of the Motion Picture Academy, presented the award, and a film of that presentation will be shown Monday night.

There had been speculation that she might appear at the awards, but she said Buddy Rogers, her husband, "won't let me go — he thinks it will be too much for me."

She has rarely left Pickfair in the last decade because of failing health. In-person interviews have not been allowed, but she does talk on the telephone — sometimes waveringly, but with her usual sprightliness.

"I know I sound like a frog, but I just woke up," she explained Thursday in such an interview.

Miss Pickford, who will be 83 on April 8, won an Oscar for best actress in "Coquette" 48 years ago. On that occasion, she recalled, "I nearly died of pleasure and fear." Concerning the latest award: "I'm amazed. I didn't know that people remembered me."

Sen. Secrest Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House completed a rare General Assembly tribute Wednesday to retiring Sen. Robert T. Secrest, the 72-year-old Guernsey County native who plans to retire from a public career of four decades next Jan. 1.

It added its unanimous approval to a measure naming the new nursing home at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky the Robert T. Secrest Nursing Home.

House members followed the lead of the Senate in having its entire membership join in sponsoring the bill, a tribute some said was without precedent in recent times.

Secrest, a former House member, U.S. congressman, member of the Federal Trade Commission, former state commerce director, and state senator for the past eight years, said when the bill received Senate approval he thinks naming the home after him is "the highest honor any man could ever receive."

Test Center Lease Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and other state officials confirmed they are considering an offer from the Battelle Memorial Institute, a research group, to lease the financially troubled Transportation Research Center of Ohio near East Liberty.

Discussions are being kept private, but both sides say they are exploring the possibility of entering a lease agreement for the 8,100-acre facility valued at $30 million.

Tennis Team Sees Good Year Ahead

By DEBBIE DOWNEY

"I think we'll be very competitive with the schools in the SCOL this season; however, it's still too early to tell just how competitive we'll be in the rest of our schedule," commented Dan Campbell, coach for the boys' tennis team.

This is the first year that the tennis team has been recognized as a varsity sport due to the fact that it was previously classified as a club. Being a varsity sport, the team is now eligible to go to state.

Coach Campbell also commented that the tennis program itself is still relatively new compared to some of the other teams on their schedule; consequently, he explained, they'll be playing a lot of tougher teams. He also emphasized that he is relying upon the seniors for leadership this season. "They've had some very good practices, a lot of enthusiasm, and a good all-around attitude," Campbell said.

The varsity lettermen are returning to play for the team this season. David Crawford, Jeff Williams, and Jon Berlin, seniors, are all returning for their second year. The seniors believe their toughest competitors will be Bexley and Lancaster-Fisher. Their first meet will be held April 1 at Greenfield.

Guidance Guidelines

A national program of credit-by-examination is available from the College Entrance Examination Board and is known as the College Level Examination Program (CLEP). Students or adults who have done intensive reading, had on-the-job experience, or studied additional subjects independently may be prepared to earn college credit through this program.

The CLEP program consists of general examinations and subject examinations. The general examinations are one-hour objective tests that measure achievement in the liberal arts: English Composition, Humanities, Mathematics, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences-History. The subject examinations measure achievement in specific college courses. Each is a 90-minute objective test.

Tests are administered at over 800 testing centers in the US and hundreds of colleges award credit for acceptable results. Colleges determine their own standards for determining credit. Additional information may be obtained by writing to College Board Publication Orders, Box 2815, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Visits from the following schools' representatives are scheduled next week: March 28, Columbus Business University; March 31, Northwestern Technical and Business College. Parents are invited to attend these sessions if interested.

Heidelberg College is having a Spring Open House April 3, at 10:30 a.m. Interested parents and students are invited to attend.

Anti-Israeli Move
Strikes U.S. Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States vetoed another anti-Israeli resolution in the Security Council Thursday night, saying that it would impede American attempts to get Arab-Israeli negotiations going again.
"We are engaged ... at this moment in an effort to regain momentum in the negotiating process that has brought some unusual progress," U.S. Ambassador William W. Scranton told the other 14 council members, all of whom voted for the resolution censuring Israeli policies and practices in the Arab territories it has occupied since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.
Scranton, who on Tuesday called the settlements Israel has been establishing in the occupied territories an "obstacle to peace," voiced objection to only one of the charges in the resolution — that "Israel is persisting in a policy aimed at changing the religious character of the city of Jerusalem."
"We believe, my government and I, that this conclusion is incorrect," Scranton said.
But Scranton in his speech Tuesday rejected one of the cardinal points of Israeli policy — that East Jerusalem, the Arab part of the city which Israel took from Jordan in 1967, will not be relinquished. Scranton said the annexation of East Jerusalem "cannot be

Workmen's Comp
Changes Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 200 recommendations for changes in Ohio's workmen's compensation program, to guard against abuse and provide for more efficient management, have been turned over to the legislature.
They came in an official report Thursday from a special Senate-House committee which conducted hearings over a span of five months and said it found voluminous shortcomings in operations of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation and the Ohio Industrial Commission. They have dovetail functions in the certification and payment of claims to Ohioans injured on the job.
Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton, who headed the joint committee, said that while no criminal charges such as bribery or mishandling funds were documented, depositions still are being taken.
The report, most of which was divulged by committee members two weeks ago, said that under the present system, opportunities for criminal activity and abuse are rampant.
Although the formal document contains a total of 207 recommendations, some of them could be implemented without an act of the legislature. However, Headley said the plan is for the majority to be put into a single bill. He said he hopes the Senate can vote on the measure before the legislature adjourns around May 1.
Among some of the more important recommendations, announced previously, permit the attorney general, at the request of the governor, to investigate, indict, and prosecute charges such as bribery and mishandling of funds; require annual audits and subsequent reports to the legislature of bureau and commission operations; require the adoption of clear guidelines for the handling of considered other than interim and provisional."

The resolution deplored Israel's efforts to change the status of Jerusalem and its policy of settling Israelis in the occupied territories. It was the product of long discussions by Arab and nonaligned delegates trying to find a formula that the United States would not veto.
Zehdi Labib Terzi of the Palestine Liberation Organization charged that the United States had used "the tyranny of the veto" against a resolution that could not have been more moderate. He said the 14 votes in favor of the resolution were a "great victory," and "the isolation of the United States was clearly manifested."
The council debate began Monday at the request of Pakistan and Libya for an inquiry into Arab rioting on the occupied West Bank territory in which two Arabs have been killed. The rioting was touched off by an Israeli court decision, later overruled by the Supreme Court, which permitted Jews to pray in the vicinity of Moslem shrines in East Jerusalem.
The council members who voted for the resolution were Britain, China, France, the Soviet Union, Benin, Guyana, Italy, Japan, Libya, Pakistan, Panama, Romania, Sweden and Tanzania.

Other recommendations would give the bureau administrator and commission members six-year terms to provide for more continuity and give them political insulation.
Another requires the Senate to act on the confirmation of those officials within 60 days after their appointment by the governor.

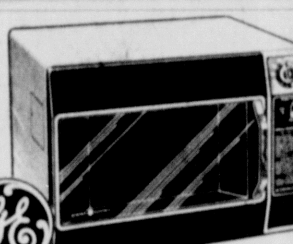

Ohio Congressional Races To Be Complex

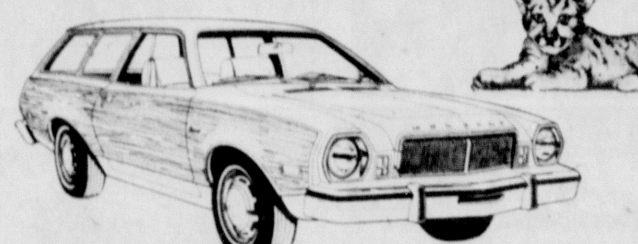

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen candidates—all Democrats—have filed petitions as candidates for one of the two congressional seats from Ohio that will be vacant after the present terms.
The 13 candidates filed for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. House in the 20th District by the deadline late Thursday. The three-term incumbent, Rep. James V. Stanton, is running for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.
There are no Republicans seeking the office.
In the 13th District, three Democrats, including a state senator, and two Republicans filed to replace retiring Rep. Charles A. Mosher, a Republican who has served the northern Ohio area since 1961.
Other races saw old faces opposing each other.
In the 5th District, Rep. Delbert L. Latta, a Republican in Washington since 1959, won by 35,770 votes in the last election over the only Democratic candidate, Bruce E. Edwards, who again will challenge him.
Rep. Clarence Brown, a Republican, won by 38,675 votes in 1974 in a three-way race that included Dorothy Franke, a housewife who wants to run as a Democrat in the 7th District again this year.
Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, a Democrat, collected 64,831 votes in 1974 to 57,892 for Carleton S. Finkbeiner Jr., who again was seeking the Republican nomination in the 9th District.
In the 12th District, Rep. Samuel L. Devine, a Republican, has Columbus City Councilwoman Fran Ryan to contend with again if she defeats Andrew J. Ruzicho, an attorney, in the Democratic primary. Devine won by 2,485 in 1974.
In another Columbus area district, the 15th, Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, a Republican, will face either Democrats Mike McGee, whom he defeated by 29,693 votes in 1974, or David C. Sweet, a public utilities commissioner.
Rep. Ralph Regula, a Republican, will face either 1974 opponent John G. Freedom, who lost by 44,232 votes, or Owen S. Hand Jr., both seeking the Democratic nomination in the 16th District.
Conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook, a Republican who first served in Congress in 1960, faces primary opposition from Donald C. Wickham. In 1974, he retained his 17th District seat by a 5.4 per cent margin.
Powerful House Administration Chairman Wayne L. Hays, who is considering a gubernatorial campaign in two years, renews a Democratic primary battle from 1974 with Nick B. Karnick, a bailiff. Steubenville Mayor William Crabbe filed as an independent in the 18th District to face the winner in November.

Rep. Charles J. Carney, a Democrat, defeated two others in the 1974 primary in the 19th District and will have five opponents in June. Two Republicans and three independents have also filed.
Rep. Charles A. Vanik, a Democrat, will face William J. Kennick in a repeat of the 1974 Democratic primary that Vanik, a congressman since 1955, won handily. Republican William J. Franz, who Vanik defeated in 1974 by 82,086 votes, is among those seeking the GOP nomination.
Arthur M. Shinn is again challenging Rep. Ronald M. Mottl in the Democratic primary which Mottl won in a six-way race for his first term. He won the seat in the general election in another six-way race.
State Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati, is among those seeking the Democratic nomination to unseat Rep. Willis D. Gradison, a Republican, in the 1st. Gradison faces William Flax in the primary whom he defeated in 1974's GOP race.
Thomas Luken, a former congressional candidate in a close race, faces two Democratic opponents in the primary before he can run against Rep. Donald D. Clancy, a Republican without opposition, in the 2nd District.

Rep. Charles W. Whalen, a Republican who had no opposition in 1974, will face both primary and general election candidates in the 3rd District.
Rep. Thomas N. Kindness, a Republican, faces primary opposition from John Brown, a farmer-publisher. Kindness won by 5,396 in a three-way for his first term in Congress from the 8th District.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Avoid excess and worry. Also, remember that high-pressure methods and a hard-sell attitude can upset others, so emphasize serenity and ease of manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Several avenues of activity will be open to you. Be selective in your choice. Don't waste time on unproductive undertakings.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A day for forethought. Give all your activities your deluxe treatment. Smile through possible trying moments. Earnest efforts will bring reward.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Emphasize your innate conservatism, your marked ability to spend-for-sound-purpose, constructive action and perseverance. You have much to gain.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Much can be accomplished in both the planning and doing stage. It need not be all work or business. Include social and personal matters in your program.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Cooperation with others could pave your road to happy satisfaction. There's more to this day than shows on the surface. Don't sell its possibilities short.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you seem to run into snags more than usual, immediately check, and recheck, if need be. There's no sense in repeating errors or clinging to previous misconceptions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Don't be overly aggressive, of course, but you may have to speak up firmly now, especially in support of worthwhile causes. Don't hesitate. Your reputation for trustworthiness will make others listen.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid involved situations and decipher ambiguous statements slowly enough to prevent errors. Clear the atmosphere so as to make sound decisions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you happiness as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stellar influences stimulate your artistic abilities and promise happy personal relationships. Let the other fellow know that you value his good will.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't believe everything you hear now, but look for the truth and, when you find it, recognize it. Rumors may be spread deliberately.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect and extraordinary intuition; are extremely ambitious and talented along many lines. You thrive on attention — and, in many cases, you attract it with great and brilliant achievement. Fields in which you can shine include music, the theater, medicine, the law, physics, statesmanship. Traits to conquer: stubbornness, overaggressiveness. Birthdate of: W. K. Roentgen, physicist, inventor of the X-ray; Gloria Swanson, film star.

Geothermal energy, the unleashing of heat in the earth's interior, is considered a potentially feasible means of supplementing other forms of electric generation, particularly on a local scale.

Views On Tiger

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been wondering what it is they call the Texas brand of country-rock music, take a gander tonight at public television's "Austin City Limits." It's a good example.

It features singer-composer Jerry Jeff Walker, a New York-born exponent of Lone Star country-rock, and the Lost Gonzo Band, six lads who sing and play acoustic guitar, electric guitar, bass, drums, organ and piano.

(Check your TV listings to be sure the show is playing in your area tonight, when the Public Broadcasting Service is feeding it to most PBS stations. Some may elect to air it on another evening.)

The program is a straightforward hour of music, 12 tunes sung before a young, enthusiastic studio audience with virtually no between-songs chatter by the performers.

The proceedings start imaginatively, with tuning-up sounds and audio-level checks heard as we see videotaped sights of the Austin area — dusty country roads and shots of such saloons as "The Texas Opry House," where Austin music folks are wont to sneer at the more establishment kind of country music offered in Nashville.

Then it's back to the studio, where the Lost Gonzo boys start things going with "Dead Armadillo," which sounds awfully close to a swing-style number of the 1930s, and a slow pop piece called "Railroad Man."

A subsequent tune, which takes a woeful walk down a country road, isn't too interesting, but I dug the title, "The Last Thing I Needed the First Thing This Morning was to Have You Walk Out on Me."

Although billed as the headliner, Walker doesn't check in until about 15 minutes into the show, arriving with his shirtdirt out, strumming a beat-up old guitar and joining the Gonzo gang midway through their hit "London Hornsick Blues."

If you've never heard Walker, he sings in a boozy baritone and at times slurs his words so much you'll have trouble understanding the lyrics of "Mr. Bojangles," a nifty tune he wrote in the 1960s.

But he and the Gonzo troops have a relaxed, friendly approach that is mighty appealing. The only problem is that Texas country-rock just seems too confined in a studio.

The songs are the kind you hear in saloons, where, as Glen Campbell aptly puts it, they play "dancin' and fightin' music."

And while director Bruce Scafe does his best to make the sights as appealing as the sounds, an hour of in-studio long shots, closeups, dissolves and audience shots can wear awfully thin.

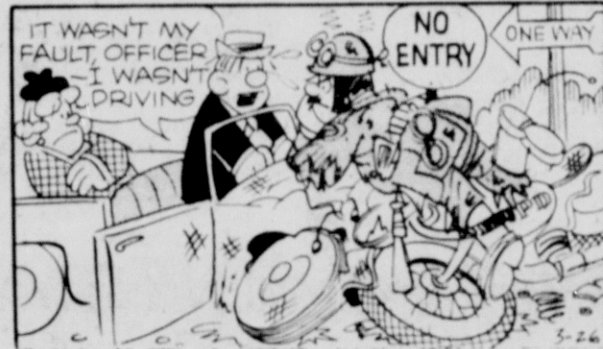

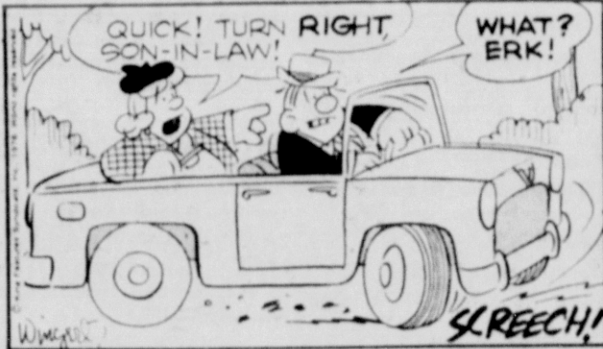

It might have eased the monotony had the show occasionally cut from the performers to the sights of the country they sing about, to visually illustrate some of the ideas expressed in the tunes.

Cavs Bow To Buffalo

By The Associated Press
For the Cleveland Cavaliers there was some bad news Thursday night ... and some more bad news.

First, the Cavaliers suffered only their second home setback in 16 starts, bowing to the Buffalo Braves 109-94. Then they learned that it cost them a chance to move into first place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division because the Washington Bullets, one game in front, also lost, 108-105 to the Portland Trail Blazers.

Elsewhere, the Houston Rockets trimmed the Golden State Warriors 123-104 and the Phoenix Suns whipped the Atlanta Hawks 107-98.

Bob McAdoo and Randy Smith combined for 61 points and led a second-half surge that propelled Buffalo over Cleveland. McAdoo scored 36 points — 23 in the second half — and Smith and Jim McMillian each scored 25, with 17 of Smith's in the second half. Dick Snyder had 21 for Cleveland.

Padres May Get Boost For '76

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With a little luck, the San Diego Padres might have more to celebrate this year than the Bicentennial: third place in the National League West.

Two years ago, that prediction might have drawn attention only from a psychiatrist. But a lot has changed since then.

On paper, at least, the Padres aren't nearly strong enough to challenge either Los Angeles or Cincinnati for the two top spots in the NL West. On paper, perhaps no one is.

But if San Diego can get stronger performances out of more of their pitchers and most of their hitters, the Padres have a chance to beat out San Francisco, Atlanta, and Houston for third.

If nothing else, they have two big mental advantages over their other three rivals.

Since McDonald's food chain owner Ray Kroc sank his teeth into the franchise in 1974, it has been financially stable. San Francisco can't say that.

Also, the Padres finished fourth last year, out of the cellar for the first time since they entered the National League in 1969.

"We don't have to waste time anymore establishing an attitude," said manager John McNamara. "After last year, I know everyone on the club feels we can be competitive."

The biggest Padre change last season was the emergence of Randy Jones. The fuzzy-haired young lefthander came back from a horrible 1974 season to win 20 games against 12 losses, with six shutouts and a 2.24 earned-run average.

In one season, he became San Diego's first pitching star and the main man in the Padre rotation.

Young Brent Strom, 8-8 and 2.55 ERA, also had some strong moments as a starter. But after that, the quality of Padre starting pitching tailed off considerably.

That meant that relievers Danny Frisella and Dave Tomlin saw a lot of action in 1975, too much to suit the Padre brass.

Frisella posted a 3.12 ERA in 65 appearances and Tomlin posted a 3.55 ERA in 67 outings. But like the starters, the bullpen needs reinforcements.

The pitchers considered most likely to help are starters Joe McIntosh, 8-15, and Dave Freisleben, 4-15; and relievers Bill Greif and Rich Folkers. Alan Foster, acquired last season from St. Louis, had arm trouble and was a major disappointment.

In the hitting department, Willie

McCovey, whose aging knees have consigned him to platooning at first base with Mike Ivie, had a productive year in '75 with 23 home runs. How long he can continue at that pace is anyone's guess.

Outfielder Dave Winfield has yet to blossom into the superstar most observers expect, batting .267 with a paltry 15 homers last year.

Outfielder Johnny Grubb, who is supposed to be the club's most consistent hitter, fell off last year to .267. And after Grubb, the hitting really fell off.

Former Houston Astro Doug Rader could help here as well as provide some stability at third base, long a Padre weak point. Veteran outfielder Willie Davis also could boost San Diego hitting and give them extra base-running speed besides.

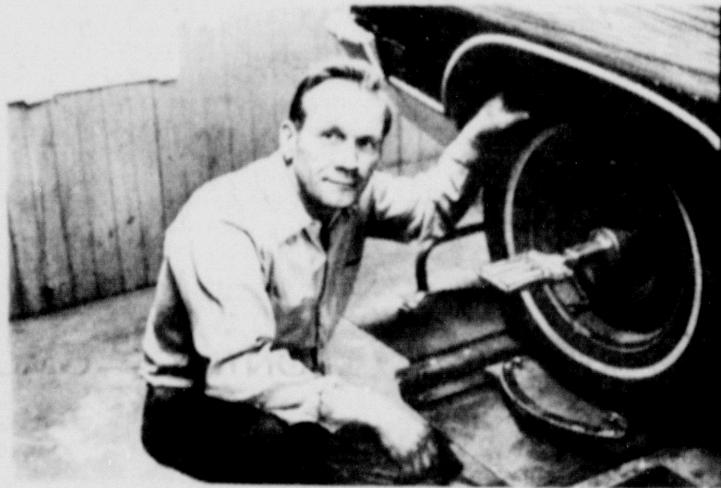

Second baseman Tito Fuentes has stabilized the infield as expected, but the big surprise last year was the strong play of shortstop Hector Torres. Torres ousted Enzo Hernandez from the position and may have turned Enzo into trade bait.

Otherwise, Mike Ivie is set at first base, where he'll take over permanently once McCovey retires. Ted Kubiak is the backup infielder and a good one.

The outfield also is stable with Winfield, Davis and Grubb. And unless the Padres swing a trade for a catcher, Fred Kendall will most likely be behind the plate again for San Diego.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

A comprehensive, handicapped peoples' bill of rights was overwhelmingly approved Tuesday by the Ohio House of Representatives. The legislation, Senate Bill 162 sponsored by Youngstown Senator Harry Meshele, had previously passed the Senate and now awaits Senate concurrence with House amendments.

If enacted, the bill would expressly prohibit discrimination against handicapped persons in the areas of employment, housing, credit and insurance. Senate Bill 162 would include handicapped persons within the provisions of the Ohio Civil Rights Law. That law now prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or ancestry in certain matters related to employment opportunities, use of public accommodations, and opportunities to obtain housing or home financing.

However, the bill would not require handicapped persons to be employed or trained under circumstances that would significantly increase occupational hazards. Neither would it require the employment or training of handicapped persons in a job that would require them to routinely undertake any task, the performance of which would be substantially impaired by their handicap.

Senate Bill 162 would prohibit insurance companies from knowingly using underwriting standards that result in unfair discrimination against handicapped persons. But it would permit reasonable classifications of handicapped persons for the purpose of determining insurance rates.

Finally, the bill would alter present motor vehicle laws to entitle handicapped persons to special driver's education training, special license plates, and special parking locations and privileges.

This week the House also approved legislation, Senate Bill 457, that would provide for precinct-by-precinct rotation of candidates; names on election ballots.

Last fall, Ohio voters approved a state constitutional amendment allowing the General Assembly to legislate methods to give each candidate's name reasonably equal placement on an election ballot. Because of the previous constitutional requirement that candidates' names be rotated positionally on the ballot so that each name will be rotated an equal number of times in each precinct, the use of voting machines had been restricted unless an equal number of voting machines or rotational patterns were available in each precinct. This resulted in added expense for extra voting machines, or resulted in the expense or delay of a paper ballot when not enough machines were available.

Enactment of Senate Bill 457, sponsored by Dayton Senator Tony Hall, would maintain the fairness of name rotation on ballots, but at a more reasonable precinct-by-precinct basis than a ballot-by-ballot basis.

In other legislative activity this week, the House passed and sent to the Senate on Wednesday, two consumer oriented bills. One would provide for self-service gasoline stations, the other would establish procedures for the cessation of utility services.

House Bill 1161, the self-service gasoline station bill sponsored by Cleveland Representative Ike Thompson, would remove the present prohibition against self-service stations in Ohio and require the state Fire Marshall to fix safety standards for their operation. Other states have self-service stations where motorists have the option of pumping their own gasoline at a slight savings.

The bill that would regulate the cessation of utility services because of non-payment is House Bill 1251, sponsored by Representative Ed Orlett of Dayton. The bill would limit the circumstances in which gas or electric service to residential customers could be shut off during the winter heating season to where: (1) the consumer's account had been in arrears at least 30 days, and (2) the utility had given notice to any tenant whose landlord is responsible for payment of the account. The winter heating season is defined as the period between November 15 and April 15. Presently, there is no provision in Ohio law prohibiting a gas or electric company from shutting off service.

Both House Bills 1161 and 1251 appear likely to be approved by the Senate this spring.

Red Cross Board Discusses Budget For 1977 Operations

The Board of Directors of Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross met Wednesday evening at Chapter Headquarters with Robert Scranton, chairman, presiding.

The budget for 1977 to be presented to Pickaway County Community Fund was discussed, revised and approved.

The blood program is currently well over the goal for the year to date but the needs for hospitalized patients continue to exceed the supply. The next visit of the bloodmobile will be April 15. It was also announced that the date of the May visit has been changed from the 4th to the 11th in order to assist another chapter with a scheduling problem.

John Stebelton and Lowell Ferguson, first aid chairmen, reported plans for a first aid course for the public, the date to be announced later. They also will conduct an instructor's course in the near future.

Pat Clark announced that an orientation for volunteers will be held at the chapter April 1 from 7 to 9 p.m. Orientation for volunteers at VA Hospital will be held the evenings of April 6 and 13, 7 to 9 p.m. and May 10 and 17 from 9:30 to 3 p.m. Men who wish to participate in the golf program may qualify as Red Cross volunteers by taking the orientation courses.

Ruth Tammany described the annual end-of-year review held recently in Columbus by the division. The local chapter received awards and special mention in the fields of blood program, nursing services, public information and first aid. Those who attended were Margaret Dean, Louise Story, Twyla Lorentz, Ruth Tammany and Etha Mae Wolford.

Memorial Airport News

Hello Dere! The weather has been so nice and there is so much going on that if one more thing happens, it'll be two weeks before I have a chance to worry about it.

New students this week are Mike Allen, Martha Poling and Bruce Lilly. Got a new solo student, too. Yes sir, Gary Cotton did alone and amid constant shouts of encouragement, manage to land and take off — not once but thrice. For all of this, he got his shirt tail cut off and ruined a perfectly good five day deodorant pad. Doesn't sound logical, does it.

Got something else interesting happening. Bryan Moss is trying to start a local squadron of the Civil Air Patrol. This is open to boys and girls in grades seven through 12. I haven't got all the information yet, but this is a great thing for everyone. The CAP not only offers young people a chance to serve their community but offers courses and training in all aspects of aviation and leadership.

There are opportunities for the cadets to spend a week at an airforce base in the summer as the CAP is the auxiliary of the United States Airforce. Adults will be urged to join and you need not be a pilot, just have the desire to help guide and train the cadets. The CAP is very active in search and rescue and many hours are spent by cadets and adults every year in the air and on the ground aiding the lost and injured.

If you're interested—and you should be—contact Bryon Moss, 474-3250 or Henri Jonas, 474-3729 or the airport, 474-2009. Remember, we need adults too.

Well, gotta go aviate. Till next week.
